Transformation Network President Speaks at Events

- Ashland Rotary to welcome Dan Phillip as luncheon speaker
- Louisville Kentucky business event hears from Transformation Network president

ASHLAND, Ohio, April 11, 2019 – Dan Phillip, president and founder of Transformation Network, will be the upcoming luncheon speaker for the Ashland Rotary Club luncheon meeting to be held on Tuesday, April 16 at the AU Heritage Room – Ashland University Convocation Center Upper Level.

Phillip said, “I always welcome opportunities to speak to community service and business groups interested in workforce development issues and how communities can attract, retain, and develop the talent needed to compete in today’s marketplace.”

Phillip recently presented at the Workforce Connections: Manufacturing & Logistics! conference sponsored by the Greater Louisville Inc. (Chamber of Commerce) and held March 14th on the General Electric campus. The confab featured face-to-face meetings between small groups of industry specific employers and education & training providers.

“We continue to be well received in the Southern Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky areas and have several new opportunities to explore as a result of our conversations at this event,” he went on to say.

Recognizing 20 years of providing Jobs and transforming lives, Transformation Network is a nonprofit workforce development organization focused on improving lives, strengthening business, and building communities.
